This teaser isn't very long but I am sure it will wet your appetite for more. So...without too much delay the adventures of Chou and Molly.

The two girls headed into the coffee bar section and ordered two hot Chais. As the girls sipped their warm cinnamony drinks, this older woman with long dark hair came over and sat down with them. "Hi, I'm Miranda. Ryan said you girls were looking for something but had no clue what? Just come out?"

The two girls nodded, almost too embarrassed to speak. Molly however was still able to. "Yeah, my parents were okay with it. It's just that...well...what do lesbians do besides kiss and stuff?"

When Miranda realized that the girl was serious she actually started laughing at that, tears coming down her face she was laughing so hard. The girls blushed and looked into their drinks. It was clear that she was enjoying their discomfort. "Oh My God! I love baby dykes. Thank you Ryan!"

"You're welcome!" called the blond boy.

We now return you to your regularly scheduled forum.

I see them coming out of that meeting with eyes big as saucers and a blush down to their toes, especially Chou as he is still learning that girls can be more frank then boys when it comes to discussing sex.

All I can think of is Hego's reaction in Tangled up in Green.

"Girlfriend? Girlfriend!"
"Uh, dad?"
"Girlfriend!?"

It's pretty funny. Guys will talk all about how sweet so-and-so girl's assets are, or brag about his dick, but when it comes to sex, all he'll say is "oh, she was a great lay".

Well, the poor little baby dykes are taken in hand and let through the ways of the Lez. And color does happen.

I wonder if Chou and Molly will pass some of their knowledge on to Kimbas and maybe some others? Perhaps IF Ayla is 100% girlified (Bad End) she will be tutored.

Well, not to put a damper on it or anything, but Chou IS living in a cottage with quite a few lesbians. I suppose that whatever the uperclassdykes lack in experience they will make up by research enthusiasm. So, whatever Chou and Molly learn may be new for THEM, but I doubt it would be new for, say, Blackrose.

The exact details of how much you liked sex can be kinda squicky between straight guys

Well, there is always that. And as for the bragging part...it is a cultural thing. It is a "proof" of manhood and if you have something else that takes it's place that behavior is rarely seen. Yay Anthropology.

A lot of my male friends seem to find normal to explain exactly why they did with some girls and to what effect. In details. I personally think that this kind of stuff is too intimate to expose to other people, but many guys I know don't seem to care, and talk about their experiences to everyone who will listen. Dammit, they even exchange pointers!

In my experience, they're usually really bragging about what their girls do for them, never touching what they do together.

Never was the kind to brag about it myself, though my track record with girls never was that impressive...

Frankly, whether or not I did anything with the female in question, my answer has generally been: "I can't say one way or another, because it's not just MY business to answer."

Because I am made of evil...here is another small taste out of context.

That got the girls blushing again. Chou was afraid her face was going to stay that way after all of this. "You girls shouldn't worry about toys at the moment, especially since you are too young to buy them, but Goddess gave you all the tools you need to fuck each other already."

Enjoy.

Its nice to see a young couple in love getting this sort of information. Basically and applied sex education course, because theory only gets you so far.

In my experience, guys WILL tell details... as long as there's a funny aspect to it.
But we aren't particularly eager to discuss technique. In part because that's a good way to let slip that your technique isn't very good. In part because you might let slip that you do something the other guys consider squicky.
So, guys are insecure. Big news.

Once again it's time for out of context theater.

She was stunned. She reached up and touched the dress and the image in the mirror moved in response. While she stared at herself and the image she portrayed, Molly came out of her dressing room in something similar but more elaborate. The girl squealed and clapped when she saw Chou. "Oh My God...you look so adorable."

Chou snapped back to reality and turned to face Molly. Chou's jaw dropped, she was so blown away by what Molly was wearing that she really couldn't do much else. There was more lace and bows, including some at the tops of the leggings. Molly looked so amazingly cute in the outfit that it took Chou's breath away. "Wow!"

Thank you. Today's production has been brought to you by the letter Theta and the number Pi.

And now another episode of out of context theater. This time we find our intrepid heroes deep in conversation:

"Mom...how do you know if you're ready to have sex?"

Her mother managed to spit the tea back in the cup and not all over her daughter. "What?"

Thank you.
